Legacy Medical Group—
Surgical Oncology

Providing colorectal care with compassion

Specializing in colorectal diseases, Legacy Medical Group–Surgical Oncology offers the expertise of a fellowship-trained surgeon with immense experience and interest in treating both non-cancerous and cancerous colorectal diseases. Patients come to our clinic to be seen for a variety of surgical and non-surgical issues, including any anorectal concerns, hemorrhoids and irritable bowel syndrome. As we understand the often-sensitive nature of these conditions, we provide a comfortable and private environment for patients to share any concerns they may have.

If in doubt, check it out

Rectal bleeding can be a symptom of hemorrhoids, or a more complex or serious condition. If you are experiencing rectal bleeding, we recommend scheduling an exam with our colorectal physician.

Our services

Legacy Medical Group–Surgical Oncology cares for patients with both non-cancerous and cancerous conditions of the lower digestive system, including:

- Inflammatory bowel disease (IBD)
- Diverticulitis
- Crohn's disease
- Ulcerative colitis
- Anal fistula
- Colon cancer
- Hernias
- Hemorrhoids
- Rectal bleeding

Our physician

Joseph Frankhouse, M.D., FACS, is board-certified in colon/rectal surgery and general surgery. Dr. Frankhouse earned his medical degree from Emory University and then completed his internship, residency in general surgery and a fellowship in colorectal surgery at the University of Southern California. He is medical director of the Legacy Colorectal Cancer Center. Named one of Portland's Best Doctors by Portland Monthly magazine, Dr. Frankhouse's clinical interests are benign and malignant conditions, including colorectal cancer.

“At our clinic, we understand that these conditions are often extremely sensitive to discuss, let alone have someone examining you in that area. My staff and I strive to make each patient feel safe and comfortable in our exam rooms.”

— Joe Frankhouse, M.D.
