June 2016 Library and CME Services Newsletter

New CME Coordinator: Introducing Melissa Horner

Melissa Horner joined Legacy Library and CME Services on May 2. In her role as Senior Continuing Medical Education Coordinator, she will collaborate with program directors and their administrative support to provide CME for a variety of courses and conferences. Melissa has a passion for lifelong learning and healthcare. Her prior experience includes 30 years at Adventist Medical Center where for the last eight years she coordinated accredited CME activities: courses, Advanced Cardiovascular Life Support (ACLS), Cancer Case Conference, Primary Care Update Series, and joint providerships. She completed a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Warner Pacific College. Melissa and her husband keep honeybees in their backyard apiary, enjoy gardening, and time with family.

Find relevant information quickly with ClinicalKey

ClinicalKey offers access to hundreds of Elsevier journals, topic pages on more than 1,400 diseases, and includes advanced search options and the ability to save your searches. Another key feature of this database is the patient education module, which is customizable and often available in multiple languages. ClinicalKey’s multimedia feature includes a library of searchable images and videos. These images can be added directly to a presentation using the Presentation Maker feature.

ClinicalKey also has an app that will let you access this great resource from your mobile device. Learn more about using ClinicalKey mobile on our website.

Table of Contents Spotlight: Pediatrics

Are you receiving the latest articles in pediatric care? Legacy Library subscribes to several great journals in this field including:

- Acta Paediatrica
- Ambulatory Pediatrics
- Child Abuse & Neglect
- Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Clinics of North America
- Clinical Pediatric Emergency Medicine
- Contemporary Pediatrics
- Current Opinion in Pediatrics
- Current Problems in Pediatric and Adolescent Health Care
- European Journal of Paediatric Neurology
- Infants & Young Children
Visit the Table of Contents service webpage to access the online form to sign up for electronic table of contents. When new journal issues are published that you are interested in receiving, Library staff will forward you an email that includes links to the table of contents and full text articles.

Check out the newest CME courses available online

Earn CME credit at your convenience with CME On Demand provides an opportunity for you to watch previously recorded live CME activities and in order to obtain CME credit, you must complete the online CME activity and take a post-test. Recent programs include “Controversies in Head and Neck Radiotherapy” with John M. Holland, MD and “Pediatric TB: What’s New in Portland” with Ann M. Loeffler, MD. Looking for ABOG resources?

If you are an OB/GYN participating in the Maintenance of Certification program from the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ABOG), you can find the most current reading lists on our library website. These lists directly link to the articles through Legacy Library’s resources, allowing you to get the articles quickly and easily. The website also includes an archive of previous reading lists going back to 2013. Starting this year, the reading lists provided by Legacy Library include all specialties: gynecology, obstetrics, office practice, female pelvic medicine and reconstructive surgery, gynecologic oncology, maternal fetal medicine, and reproductive endocrinology and infertility. Visit the ABOG page to download the reading lists.
ACLS, PALS, and BLS manuals go digital

Now patrons of Legacy Library can check out a digital version of the ACLS, PALS, and BLS provider manuals when taking their certification course. The new online version of this required text is allows convenient access to providers at all Legacy locations. To access the online version of ACLS, PALS, or BLS books, search our publication finder, or email lhslibrary@lhs.org for assistance.

Thanks from our patrons

Every day at the Legacy Library helps patrons with article requests, literature searches, and other requests. Here’s what some of our patrons had to say:

“Thank you so much for your speedy turn around on our article requests. You helped us complete our time-sensitive work.”

“Thank you for all the articles you have found for me. If there is a second project I engage in, I will definitely use the library as a resource.”

“Your help is invaluable!”

“Thank you for your help with the lit search for a recent ethics consult. It was timely and thorough and much appreciated!”
